

Animal Tracks

Most of the wildlife in Georgia's forests rarely allow us to catch a glimpse of them, but they often leave evidence of their presence...including their "tracks" (impressions in the ground left by their footprints). The best time to look for tracks is in the morning before anything has disturbed them.

Black Bear

White-Tailed Deer

Raccoon

Beaver

Cougar

Opossum

Cottontail Rabbit

Striped Skunk

Red Fox

Gray Squirrel

How to make a Wildlife Footprint Bed:

1. Spread out sand or fine dirt smoothly over a level area where wildlife might come.
2. Carefully toss birdseed, corn, nuts, and crumbs into the sand or fine dirt.
3. Come back the next day to check for wildlife footprints!
